

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A data processing device includes a crypto unit having an alignment buffer for providing data to transmit buffer elements of a media switch fabric in multiples of a predetermined number of bytes. Ciphred data for a packet can be split over first and second transmit buffer elements so as to reduce the amount of software intervention.